■ Matching System

It is Matching System that makes AI EXPO TOKYO different from any other AI-related shows. The system was introduced for the first time, in which exhibitors/visitors can search what they are looking for and request appointments one another online.

The number of visitor registrants reached 1,960, who were all keen to discuss with exhibitors about how to solve their problems with artificial intelligence, and 1,011 appointments were set for 3-day show period between these visitors and exhibitors. On site, lively meetings were conducted at every single booth. The system contributed to both exhibitors' and visitors' onsite achievements.

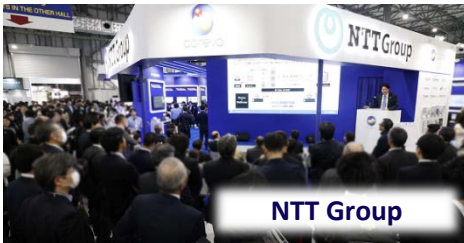

■ Gathering World's Leading Companies

Among the exhibitors, the appearance of world's leading companies was especially outstanding.

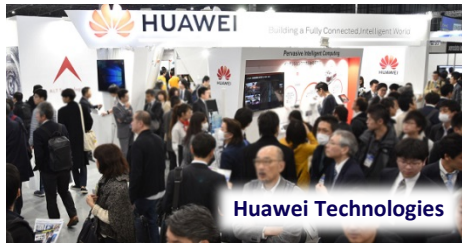

There were lots of application examples displayed, and their booths were packed with visitors who were interested in how AI was utilized in other companies.
