Securex South Africa 2019 continued to draw in the crowds!

Once again, Africa's leading security and fire trade exhibition wowed its audience with the wide variety and excellence of its offerings, both in the physical security world as well as cybersecurity elements. Exhibitors at the 26th Securex South Africa once again used the show to launch new products and services, and many offered competitions, give-aways and demonstrations. The show brings together commercial, physical and cybersecurity exhibitors and security professionals, keeping visitors up-to-speed with the very latest in products, services and market trends.

What did our exhibitors say?

"This was our first year at Securex and it has totally exceeded our expectations! The show has given us a number of good leads and we definitely plan to be back next year."

Drone Guards – Kim James

"Jasco's Securex experience has been a resounding success! Within the first day of Securex 2019, we exceeded stand traffic on all three show days in 2018."

Jasco Security and Fire Solutions - Cedric Boltman

"What a show! Securex has been brilliant. Our stand hasn't been empty once, and we've got a lever arch file full of potential leads. It is a very valuable show for us to have attended - we'll definitely be back!"

ET Nice - Jano Terblanche

"Shows like Securex are extremely important, not only to exhibitors but to end users and potential customers to see where the industry is moving and research new companies who may have exactly the solutions they need to solve their business challenges."

AxxonSoft - Colleen Glaeser

A-OSH Expo 2019 exceeds all of our expectations!

A-OSH EXPO turned 9 in 2019, and the show continued to draw in growing crowds, surpassing attendance in 2018, which to date had been the highest ever. Occupational health and safety around South Africa is experiencing continued growing recognition across many different industry verticals. The show is renowned for offering excellent legislative updates and a comprehensive look at the latest trends and most up-to-date product and service offerings.

What did our exhibitors say?

“We were very excited to be partnering with A-OSH EXPO for the ninth year running. Our presence at the show has included our exhibition stand, our annual two-day international health and safety conference, and our support of the A-OSH seminar theatre. All three elements have been very successful! We are really excited about being back for A-OSH EXPO 2020.”

South African Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (Saioosh) - Neels Nortje, CEO

“This was our first time exhibiting at A-OSH EXPO and we’ve had a fantastic experience at the show, with an amazing footfall at our stand and quality people coming through. One of our aims was to create more brand awareness and we’ve definitely been successful; we have also had some good leads.”

Safety Risk Management Consultants (SRM): Mango software - Nicholas Graham and Gareth Nortje

“This is our third year exhibiting at A-OSH EXPO. We’ve had a decent number of quality leads, we are happy and plan on returning next year.”

Sabinet - Lorraine Jansen van Vuuren

Facilities Management Expo joined the family in 2019 – where to for Vision 2020?

Specialised Exhibitions Montgomery made the decision to purchase the established Facilities Management Expo in 2019, and run it alongside Securex and A-OSH. This was in order to provide visitors with a consolidated view of the entire value chain by including all aspects of facilities management. With a solid start in 2019, we look forward to continuing onward and upward in 2020.

What did our exhibitors say?

“We’ve had good traffic through the stand and lots of leads. Overall it has been a positive experience, and as a facilities management company, the expo is a good fit.”

Tsebo – Sinthemba Malindi

“Securex is the best place for us to show how Fidelity is growing and adapting to requirements like technology in security. We’ve met a lot of people and seen a lot of new products that we’d like to look at potentially incorporating into our services offering. Good show.”

Fidelity Services Group - Wahl Bartmann

“We’re very happy with the floor traffic and have had several meaningful enquiries on Facilities Management Expo 2019. Launching a new product at the show this year, it has been an excellent opportunity to physically show visitors what our product is and how it works.”

Flexible Safety Barriers – Julius Magaronogoma

“The quality of leads at Facilities Management Expo has been good, and our seminar slot in the theatre was well attended. Our pipe relining product is unique, so we find that everyone is interested. We certainly hope to be back on the show next year.”

Nu Flow – David Wade
